

ERRATUM

Asian Pac J Allergy Immunol 2022;40:401-406 DOI 10.12932/AP-231019-0667

Prevalence of rat and mouse sensitization in Asian patients with respiratory allergy

Panipak Temboonnark, Mongkhon Sompornrattanaphan, Witchaya Srisuwatthari, Punchama Pacharn,
Orathai Jirapongsananuruk, Nualanong Visitsunthorn

Table 1. Requested corrections.

Location	Published text or record	Requested correction
1. Page 401	Journal PDF: Mongkhon Sompornrattanaphan ²	Journal PDF: Mongkhon Sompornrattanaphan^{2*}
2. Page 401 footnote	No EIC footnote is present.	*This author is an Essentially Intellectual Contributor (EIC) to this work.
3. Page 402 Methods Study population First sentence	From January 2018 to February 2019, patients aged ≥ 3 years with physician diagnosed allergic rhinitis and/or asthma ^{18,19} were recruited from the Department of Pediatrics and Department of Internal Medicine, Siriraj Hospital, Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand.	From July 2018 to February 2019, patients aged ≥ 3 years with physician diagnosed allergic rhinitis and/or asthma ^{18,19} were recruited from the Department of Pediatrics and Department of Internal Medicine, Siriraj Hospital, Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand.

Notes: Retain affiliation number 2, author order, and reference citations 18 and 19. The asterisk applies to the article contribution footnote. Bold type identifies revised text.

Abbreviations: EIC, Essentially Intellectual Contributor; PDF, portable document format.